

Fossils

Year 7 Investigation

"Fossils found in Ethiopia may be a distant relation to man" reported the BBC on 2nd October 2009

Your task is to investigate the claim and produce an information leaflet about fossils and how science uses them to show how a species changes over time.

The leaflet should include diagrams, tables or graphs and should include the following details:

- What are fossils?
- How do they form?
- How are they used by Scientists?
- Why are they useful to show evolution of a species?

You must not simply cut and paste but read the web site book or paper and put the information into your own words. The leaflet must have at least 3 different web sites or book references at the end to show where you found the information.
